

STRENUOUS TIMES
IN LEGISLATURE

Members to Offer and Press
Many Important Measures.

REPUBLICAN CONSERVATISM

Minority Members May Join
Democrats and Fight for Reforms.

Although the newly chosen Legislature will not meet until the second Wednesday in January, there is a great deal of talk about important matters which various members will bring for consideration, and there is every reason to believe that the session will be a very busy one.

The organization of the two branches will be the first matter of consuming interest to receive attention, and then the lawmakers will drop into the heavy routine of a brief but strenuous session.

On the House side there will be contests for nearly every office save that of clerk. The incumbent, Mr. John W. Williams, of Giles, will recapture the position without opposition. Though there are promises to be made by the speaker, wise ones are saying that Mr. Byrd will land the honor. The Win-chester man is a lawyer and legislator of marked ability, and his friends are confident that he will be an easy winner.

On the Senate side.

In the Senate perhaps the most interesting contest will be for clerk. The candidates are Messrs. M. B. of Tazewell, and T. A. Lynch, of Giles, and their respective friends are working like Trojans for their success.

Judge William Hodges, Mann and Senator George B. Keckell will stand for caucus chairman, and Sergeant-at-Arms Frank H. Watkins will be opposed by Captain Andrew Jackson, of Fluvanna.

From all that can be learned the Republicans will offer no opposition to the Democratic nominees for the various offices to be filled. Indeed, it looks as if the minority party will be conservative in session, and will join hands with the Democrats on business lines for the adoption of measures looking to the betterment of the condition of the whole people.

The Republicans will hold a joint caucus and will elect floor leaders for the two branches. Senator John C. Noel will again be spokesman in the Senate, and Hon. C. S. Pendleton, of Scott, is slated to succeed Mr. Powell Royall, of Tazewell, as minority floor leader in the House.

A Business Member.

Mr. John G. Luce, the new Republican member from Fluvanna and Goodland, is a strong business man, and will strive earnestly to obtain better accounting conditions in the State. Mr. Luce is a man of considerable

Cold Weather Comforts

Silkoline Comforts, worth 1.50, for $1.19.
Extra large Silkoline Comforts, filled with pure white cotton; a $2.00 value, for $1.50.
Laminated Comforts, the regular $2.50 kind, for $1.98.
Laminated Wool Comforts, that sold for $4.00, for $2.98.

Faulkner & Warriner Co.

First and Broad Streets.

wealth. He has large business interests in Richmond, and is an accountant by profession. He will use all his influence to secure the passage of an effective traveling auditor's measure, and will get behind what he thinks is the first bill offered, and try to swing his people in line for it.

A number of members are known to have certain matters already outlined which they expect to bring to the attention of the body. When asked yesterday if he had anything of special public interest to offer, a member of the Senate, who was in the city, and whose record in the Legislature heretofore has been vigorous, declared that he expected to devote himself mainly to looking after the routine business of the State.

Sadly Neglected.

"I regard this of the very first importance," he continued, "and it is a fact that it has been sadly neglected for a number of years."

Another prominent man, who will be in the body for the first time, when asked what legislation he would attempt to pass, said:

"I feel the deepest interest in, first, the improvement of the public schools; second, the improvement of the public roads; third, the increase of pension money for the soldiers of the Civil War who are disabled, and fourth the fair and proper regulation of railroad and other corporations."

One other question of general interest which will come up in many forms, and which is suggested by several of the new members relates to reforms in the present methods of laying and collecting the taxes of the State, and it is believed that under these general heads will be found many if not the greater portion of the bills that will receive favorable consideration.

Will Die in Pigeon Holes.

Measures on nearly every conceivable question will be offered. They nearly always are, but many of them will and their last resting place in the pigeon holes of the various committees, as in a session of only sixty days it is absolutely imperative that the body shall hurry along with its work and look to the larger and more important things which appear to most deeply concern the best interests of the State.

But little patronage is to be distributed by the coming Legislature, few circuit judges are to be chosen, as well as a Superintendent of Public Printing, though so far as is known, no very vigorous contests for any of these places are anticipated. Governor Swanson said yesterday that he had a number of matters of importance to bring to the attention of the Legislature, and that he expected to get to work on his message in a very short time.

Heard and Seen in Public Places

"You may quote me as favoring Hon. Edward Echols, of Staunton, for president pro tem. of the new Senate," said Congressman Hal D. Flood, of Appomattox, at Murphy's last night.

Mr. Flood has been here for several days, and though suffering from a severe cold, he was in the lobby for a while during the evening shaking hands with his old friends.

"Mr. Echols has presided over the body for four years as Lieutenant-Governor," continued the Congressman, "and owing to this fact and to his long service as a member, he is admirably fitted for the position."

"How about the caucus chairman-ship?" was asked.

"I am for my friend, Judge William Hodges Mann," was the quick reply.

"Judge Mann has been a faithful Democrat; is now the chairman, and I can see no reason to turn him out."

Mr. Flood served for many years in the Senate before going to Congress, and he knows the ins and outs of State legislation as well as any man in the Commonwealth.

Former Congressman Julian Minor Quarles, of Staunton, is at Murphy's.

State Senator C. Harding Walker, of Northumberland, is in the city, and is stopping at Murphy's. Senator Walker is on his way to Farmville to attend a meeting of the board of visitors of the State Female Normal School there to-day. The Senator is a prominent member of the board, and takes deep interest in the work. He called on Governor Swanson for a short while yesterday.

Captain Asa Rogers, of Petersburg, a prominent Republican leader, was at the Federal building yesterday.

Captain J. C. Featherston, a prominent citizen of Campbell county and former member of the House of Delegates, is at Murphy's. Captain Featherston is here to attend a meeting to-day of the joint legislative committee appointed several years ago to look after the making and placing of a statue of General Robert E. Lee in the national Capitol at Washington. The other members of the committee are Hon. R. E. Davis, of Petersburg; Hon. H. C. Rice, of Charlotte; Captain J. C. of Russell, and Hon. George E. Sims, of Rockingham, on the part of the House, and Hon. Don P. Halsey, of Lynchburg; H. T. Wickham, of Hanover, and Edward Lytle, of Roanoke, on the part of the Senate.

The statue has been practically completed by Sculptor Edward V. Valentine, and will be passed upon by the committee to-day.

"Business is good in Lynchburg," said Captain Featherston, "and we are not greatly disturbed by financial conditions."

Mr. St. George R. Fitzhugh, a prominent attorney of Fredericksburg, was in Richmond yesterday, and was at the State Library on legal business.

State School Examiner E. H. Russell, who has charge of the district embracing this city and a number of southside and tidewater counties, was a caller at the Capitol yesterday.

"We had a fine educational meeting at Urbana Monday night," said Mr. Russell, "and I saw a Times-Dispatch man. The object of the meeting was to arouse interest in the building of a new school house. I made a brief speech, and others were made by Dr. W. S. Christian and Dr. B. Cabell Henning. Immediate steps were taken looking to the building of a new house. The district board contributed $1,500 and the meeting raised $1,700 by popular subscription. The matter will not stop here. The people are thoroughly aroused, and the list will grow until the amount is sufficient for the building of a proper house." Mr. Russell will be in the city for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Gordon Gouldman, of Fredericksburg, are at the Richmond. They were married yesterday, and are on their bridal tour. The Jameson Expedition and other points of interest are in their list of places at which they will stop before returning home.

Treasurer C. T. Smith, of Caroline county, was in the city yesterday, and was a caller at the State Auditor's office.

Senator-elect John M. Hart, of Roanoke, was in the city yesterday.

Two Suspects Are Held

Claude Hill and Henry Fields Have Cases Continued to November 30th.

Claude Hill and Henry Fields, the two negroes arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the recent criminal assault on Church Hill, appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning, but their cases were continued to November 30th. They were arrested by Sergeant Kraft and Policemen Samuels.

More suspicion attaches to Hill, in the opinion of the police, than to Fields, whose arrest was caused by conflicting stories as to his whereabouts at the time of the assault. His mother said that he was at home; Fields said that he was not at home.

Chancery Court.

The taking of testimony in the Walton will case was continued yesterday, to be resumed again to-day.

GIFT BATTLESHIP
VIRGINIA IS MADE

Lieut.-Gov. Ellyson Makes Presentation Speech on Behalf of Mrs. Ellyson.

READS INTERESTING LETTER

Party Entertained on Board the Warship, and Lunch Served in Admiral's Quarters.

A notable episode in the history of the battleship Virginia was the presentation yesterday at 1:30 P. M. by Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson, on behalf of Mrs. Ellyson, of a refectoscope and moving picture machine recently purchased by her in New York City, she having raised the necessary amount while at Wiltoughby Beach last summer by appeals to a number of private individuals, interested alike herself, in providing for the entertainment and pleasure of the sailors.

Mrs. Ellyson went to Norfolk Monday evening, and has been the guest there since of Mrs. James Hubbard. She was joined yesterday by a party of Richmond friends, who went with her and the Lieutenant-Governor in the government launch, under the escort of Chaplain George E. T. Stevenson, to the Portsmouth navy-yard, where the Virginia lay.

The day was extremely pleasant, and the battleship, with her men lined up on the decks, presented an animated and picturesque scene.

Captain Schroeder, of the Virginia, and Mrs. Berry, the wife of Admiral Berry, of the navy-yard, were waiting at the gangway to welcome Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ellyson and their friends.

Gathered on the deck were Miss Berry, Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Stevenson, the wife of Chaplain Stevenson, Mrs. Laird, the wife of Ensign Laird, and others, who, with the ship's officers, did everything in their power to testify to their appreciation of what Mrs. Ellyson had done for the credit of the ship and the entertainment of the sailors.

A group formed around Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson on the deck. The officers and men stood immediately back of this group, when he made the presentation in Mrs. Ellyson's name, by saying:

Governor Ellyson's Speech.

Captain Schroeder, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am glad to be here to-day. I come not in my official capacity as Lieutenant-Governor, but as a Virginian, at the command of a noble Virginia woman, whom it has been my pleasure for many years to know, and who finds her greatest delight in making other people happy.

This occasion will be an epoch-making event in the history of the battleship Virginia. We have assembled to-day to honor to the crew, to put the emphasis of our appreciation upon the man behind the guns, whose constancy to duty, loyalty to the flag and love of country have made possible those glorious naval victories that have given an immortality of fame to John Barry, Deane, Perry, Decatur, Paragut, Dewey and many others equally illustrious, whose names adorn the brightest pages of American history.

It is always to me an interesting thought that the two books which give the clearest and most interesting view of our life during the Civil War were written by two privates, both artillerymen, by the way—the one "Army Life in the Army of the Potomac" by Private Wilkinson, of one of the New York batteries, and the other "Army Life in the Army of Northern Virginia" by Private McCarthy, of the Second Company, Richmond Howitzers. This is not strange. They knew by experience, that best of all schools, the story each had to tell.

The man that is willing to go forth to do battle for his country should have in him the aspiration for lofty endeavor, and if he uses his opportunities well will aspire to nobler and better things. The duty was the sublimest word in the English language. He was right. You doubtless many times find your tasks very irksome, but remember that in "acting well your part there all the honor lies," and that satisfaction in the consciousness of duty faithfully performed.

But I must not forget what I came here to do, and I can best make that clear by reading you a letter recently sent by Mrs. Ellyson to an intimate friend, and a Confederate general. This letter explains fully the work she has accomplished and her reasons for raising the fund to purchase the gift she brings you to-day. The letter says:

Mrs. Ellyson's Letter.

10 East Franklin Street, Richmond, Va., October 16, 1907.

My Dear General—I have undertaken to raise a sum sufficient to purchase a refectoscope and moving picture machine, to be presented to the United States battleship Virginia for the instruction and entertainment of the sailors.

The ship will soon sail on a long voyage. The leisure hours of the crew must necessarily be dull and monotonous on this trip. For this reason the chaplain, Rev. George E. T. Stevenson, has made an appeal in their behalf. He has only lately been appointed, but in this time has gained the respect and affection of the men. He will prepare and deliver the lectures to be illustrated by the refectoscope in which picture postals can be placed with other material.

The crew of the Virginia have a fine record for duty faithfully performed. That you may know they are worthy, I will name a partial list of the works in which they are proficient. Out of less than 400 men engaged at target practice recently, 101 are entitled to wear the navy "E" for excellency in gunnery. They have broken the navy record this month for coaling from a boiler, having taken 11 hours in coaling from a lighter. A letter from the Navy Department says: "In the report of coaling of the United States battleship Virginia at Bradford, R. I., on August 11, 1906, this is by far the best record for coaling on any of our naval vessels." On June 4, 1907, they broke all of the above records. For target practice they have been commended for excellent results on their first record practice. Their after-ward stands first, also, their six-inch battery stands first among all the six-inch batteries of all the battleships and armored cruisers of the navy. Three of the three-pounder guns broke the highest record ever before made by the three-pounder guns. I feel that the reputation of our grand old State, for which the Virginia was named, will be fully sustained while she is manned by such a splendid crew.

The ship sails early in December, and so what is done must be done at once. I ask that you will assist me in this opportunity to give pleasure to a set of men for whom little is done by sending me a contribution. Confidently awaiting a generous response, I am,

Yours very sincerely,

MRS. J. TAYLOR ELLYSON.

I am glad to be able to tell you that the responses were both prompt and generous, and I am here to-day to present the refectoscope and moving picture machine, which I trust, as used by your big-hearted chaplain, will reflect the memory of your trip, and brighten many otherwise weary hours.

If you have one-half as much pleasure in receiving this present, as Mrs. Ellyson and the friends who aided her have in giving it, you will be the happiest sailors that ever manned a ship. And now, men, may you have a pleasant voyage. Think of the friends you leave behind you, but above all else, may the memory of home be an oratorio, singing to all your after-life melodies and harmonies of old remembered joy.

Hearty and enthusiastic applause followed upon the conclusion of this address. Captain Schroeder accepted the refectoscope and moving picture machine, voicing the thanks of the thanks of others and expressing unqualifiedly his estimate of its value to the men.

He then said that Electrician Samuel C. Smith had been selected as the sailors' spokesman, to deliver their thanks to Mrs. Ellyson, which he did in very frank and manly fashion.

Mrs. Ellyson and her party were then taken down into the admiral's quarters on the Virginia, and a beautiful and abundant luncheon was served. Mrs. Ellyson, wife of the chief engineer, acting as hostess, and the officers looking well after the wants of their guests.

GIFT BATTLESHIP
VIRGINIA IS MADE

Lieut.-Gov. Ellyson Makes Presentation Speech on Behalf of Mrs. Ellyson.

READS INTERESTING LETTER

Party Entertained on Board the Warship, and Lunch Served in Admiral's Quarters.

A notable episode in the history of the battleship Virginia was the presentation yesterday at 1:30 P. M. by Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson, on behalf of Mrs. Ellyson, of a refectoscope and moving picture machine recently purchased by her in New York City, she having raised the necessary amount while at Wiltoughby Beach last summer by appeals to a number of private individuals, interested alike herself, in providing for the entertainment and pleasure of the sailors.

Mrs. Ellyson went to Norfolk Monday evening, and has been the guest there since of Mrs. James Hubbard. She was joined yesterday by a party of Richmond friends, who went with her and the Lieutenant-Governor in the government launch, under the escort of Chaplain George E. T. Stevenson, to the Portsmouth navy-yard, where the Virginia lay.

The day was extremely pleasant, and the battleship, with her men lined up on the decks, presented an animated and picturesque scene.

Captain Schroeder, of the Virginia, and Mrs. Berry, the wife of Admiral Berry, of the navy-yard, were waiting at the gangway to welcome Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ellyson and their friends.

Gathered on the deck were Miss Berry, Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Stevenson, the wife of Chaplain Stevenson, Mrs. Laird, the wife of Ensign Laird, and others, who, with the ship's officers, did everything in their power to testify to their appreciation of what Mrs. Ellyson had done for the credit of the ship and the entertainment of the sailors.

A group formed around Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson on the deck. The officers and men stood immediately back of this group, when he made the presentation in Mrs. Ellyson's name, by saying:

Governor Ellyson's Speech.

Captain Schroeder, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am glad to be here to-day. I come not in my official capacity as Lieutenant-Governor, but as a Virginian, at the command of a noble Virginia woman, whom it has been my pleasure for many years to know, and who finds her greatest delight in making other people happy.

This occasion will be an epoch-making event in the history of the battleship Virginia. We have assembled to-day to honor to the crew, to put the emphasis of our appreciation upon the man behind the guns, whose constancy to duty, loyalty to the flag and love of country have made possible those glorious naval victories that have given an immortality of fame to John Barry, Deane, Perry, Decatur, Paragut, Dewey and many others equally illustrious, whose names adorn the brightest pages of American history.

It is always to me an interesting thought that the two books which give the clearest and most interesting view of our life during the Civil War were written by two privates, both artillerymen, by the way—the one "Army Life in the Army of the Potomac" by Private Wilkinson, of one of the New York batteries, and the other "Army Life in the Army of Northern Virginia" by Private McCarthy, of the Second Company, Richmond Howitzers. This is not strange. They knew by experience, that best of all schools, the story each had to tell.

The man that is willing to go forth to do battle for his country should have in him the aspiration for lofty endeavor, and if he uses his opportunities well will aspire to nobler and better things. The duty was the sublimest word in the English language. He was right. You doubtless many times find your tasks very irksome, but remember that in "acting well your part there all the honor lies," and that satisfaction in the consciousness of duty faithfully performed.

But I must not forget what I came here to do, and I can best make that clear by reading you a letter recently sent by Mrs. Ellyson to an intimate friend, and a Confederate general. This letter explains fully the work she has accomplished and her reasons for raising the fund to purchase the gift she brings you to-day. The letter says:

Mrs. Ellyson's Letter.

10 East Franklin Street, Richmond, Va., October 16, 1907.

My Dear General—I have undertaken to raise a sum sufficient to purchase a refectoscope and moving picture machine, to be presented to the United States battleship Virginia for the instruction and entertainment of the sailors.

The ship will soon sail on a long voyage. The leisure hours of the crew must necessarily be dull and monotonous on this trip. For this reason the chaplain, Rev. George E. T. Stevenson, has made an appeal in their behalf. He has only lately been appointed, but in this time has gained the respect and affection of the men. He will prepare and deliver the lectures to be illustrated by the refectoscope in which picture postals can be placed with other material.

The crew of the Virginia have a fine record for duty faithfully performed. That you may know they are worthy, I will name a partial list of the works in which they are proficient. Out of less than 400 men engaged at target practice recently, 101 are entitled to wear the navy "E" for excellency in gunnery. They have broken the navy record this month for coaling from a boiler, having taken 11 hours in coaling from a lighter. A letter from the Navy Department says: "In the report of coaling of the United States battleship Virginia at Bradford, R. I., on August 11, 1906, this is by far the best record for coaling on any of our naval vessels." On June 4, 1907, they broke all of the above records. For target practice they have been commended for excellent results on their first record practice. Their after-ward stands first, also, their six-inch battery stands first among all the six-inch batteries of all the battleships and armored cruisers of the navy. Three of the three-pounder guns broke the highest record ever before made by the three-pounder guns. I feel that the reputation of our grand old State, for which the Virginia was named, will be fully sustained while she is manned by such a splendid crew.

The ship sails early in December, and so what is done must be done at once. I ask that you will assist me in this opportunity to give pleasure to a set of men for whom little is done by sending me a contribution. Confidently awaiting a generous response, I am,

Yours very sincerely,

MRS. J. TAYLOR ELLYSON.

I am glad to be able to tell you that the responses were both prompt and generous, and I am here to-day to present the refectoscope and moving picture machine, which I trust, as used by your big-hearted chaplain, will reflect the memory of your trip, and brighten many otherwise weary hours.

If you have one-half as much pleasure in receiving this present, as Mrs. Ellyson and the friends who aided her have in giving it, you will be the happiest sailors that ever manned a ship. And now, men, may you have a pleasant voyage. Think of the friends you leave behind you, but above all else, may the memory of home be an oratorio, singing to all your after-life melodies and harmonies of old remembered joy.

Hearty and enthusiastic applause followed upon the conclusion of this address. Captain Schroeder accepted the refectoscope and moving picture machine, voicing the thanks of the thanks of others and expressing unqualifiedly his estimate of its value to the men.

He then said that Electrician Samuel C. Smith had been selected as the sailors' spokesman, to deliver their thanks to Mrs. Ellyson, which he did in very frank and manly fashion.

Mrs. Ellyson and her party were then taken down into the admiral's quarters on the Virginia, and a beautiful and abundant luncheon was served. Mrs. Ellyson, wife of the chief engineer, acting as hostess, and the officers looking well after the wants of their guests.

Good for the Eyes

We beg leave to announce that we have opened for the convenience of our large and constantly increasing patronage a Branch Establishment at 223 E. Broad Street, where the same reliable and high-class service will be rendered that has made ours the largest and best Optical establishment South, and one of the foremost in the United States. We shall continue to observe every detail appertaining to the proper and careful adjustment of Spectacles and Eye Glasses, so as to insure comfort to the wearer and the preservation of the eyesight.

Optical Manufacturing Plant Enlarged.

We have recently enlarged our Optical Manufacturing Plant to keep pace with the growing demand for the promptest and best possible service. Prescription Work is our specialty, and the most complicated lenses are ground on the premises. Knowing the importance of proper glasses, we furnish the Best Only, and our success is based upon merit alone. This we guarantee to maintain in the future as we have in the past during the nearly quarter century of our existence.

OUR KODAK DEPARTMENT will be complete, and our Developing and Printing as artistic as our Branch as it is at headquarters. Prices always the lowest.

The S. Galeski Optical Company,

Eighth and Main. Third and Broad.

Let Us Help You!

In your selection of NEW FURNITURE. We have everything needed in the house. We can and will sell at as low figure as any, and will give CREDIT in the most desirable form. Our stock is easy to show, and easy to sell, once it is seen. Come in this week and see the

BEST DISPLAY
IN RICHMOND.THE BIG STORE
RYAN-SMITH
& Co. SMITH
HOME OUTFITTERS
MASONIC TEMPLE

STRAIGHT WHISKIES

All goods guaranteed under the Pure Food Law and Drug Act.

Do not spend your money for compounded or rectified goods, when for the same money you can get the straight article.

Look for the Pure Food Guarantee which you will find on all our goods. It means much to you. You buy direct when you order from us. We are wholesale distributors to the customer, and guarantee satisfaction, or money refunded. Goods shipped in neat plain packages, express charges prepaid at prices named. Write for special wholesale prices in bulk lots. Booklet, complete list and full information mailed on request. On list named below, we make good losses and breakage.

(ALL FULL QUARTS)

Westover (best the world over).....	$3.10	8 qts.	$24.80	12 qts.	$35.90
El Maize (old corn whiskey).....	2.60	4.85	7.50
Donald Kenny Malt Whiskey (medicinal).....	3.25	6.25	9.00
Blue Ridge (Vt. Mountain).....	4.00	7.50	11.50
Huron River Rye, extra fine (bottled in bond).....	3.95	7.65	11.50
Dr. LeBaron's Buchu Gin (medicinal).....	3.40	6.55	10.00
Kelly's Royal Corn (the finest).....	3.85	7.45	11.25
Kelly's Copper Distilled (bottled in bond).....	3.20	6.30	9.40
Kelly's Medicinal Malt (bottled in bond).....	3.50	7.65	11.50
Miss Templing (finest Maryland rye).....	4.50	8.50	12.50

PUT IN STONE
JUGS, SAFELY
PACKED
IN PLAIN
CASE.

ALL
CHARGES
PREPAID

1 gal. 5-year-old Ky. Rye.....	4.00
1 gal. 5-year-old N. C. Corn.....	3.50
1 gal. Holland Gin.....	3.00
1 gal. Extra Fine Sherry.....	2.50
1 gal. Porto Rico Rum.....	2.00
1 gal. Extra Good Port Wine.....	1.50
1 gal. 4-year-old Maryland Peach Brandy.....	42.85
1 gal. 4-year-old Vt. Apple or Peach Brandy.....	2.85

SPECIAL OFFER.

3 Gallons Old N. C. Corn.....	8.00
3 Gallons Kentucky Rye.....	8.00
3 Gallons Fine Gin.....	8.00
3 Gallons Apple or Peach Brandy.....	8.00
4 1/2 Gallons of either above.....	9.50

All orders west of Mississippi, add 50 cents additional for each 4 quarts, except Kelly's Copper Distilled (bottled in bond) on which for orders outside of Virginia, the Carolinas, Maryland and District of Columbia, add 60 cents for 4 quarts, $1.05 for 8 quarts and $1.50 for 12 quarts.

Shipping charges on freight orders 1/3 less than above extra charges.

The Phil. G. Kelly Co., Inc. Importers, Distributors and Fine Liquors
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY FILLED
143 E. Main Local and Long Distance Phone 1353 Richmond, Va.

BALDWIN & BROWN, 1557 E. Main St., Richmond, - Va.

Corrugated and V-Crimp Roofing, Painted and Galvanized.

"Bestoid"
Rubber Roofing.
Carey's Magnesite
Cement Roofing.
Tarred Paper.
Tin Plate.

Hardware, Lime, Cement, Terra Cotta Pipe.

MASURY'S PAINTS

The Old Original Standard.

Guaranteed Strictly Pure and Full Measure

John L. Branch & Co., - Richmond, Va.
B. P. Vaden, - - - Manchester, Va.

Toys and Dolls.

Direct Importations from Europe and the Orient. Retailing from a Penny to Twenty-five Dollars.

Wholesale to Merchants Only.

Southern Bargain House.
1004-6-8 E. Cary Street, - Richmond, Virginia.

The South's Greatest Furniture Store